

Earth processes

Natural forces have the power to change our landscape by weathering, erosion and deposition.

Geologists use the word sediment when they talk about fragments of rock.

Gravel, sand and mud are all sediments.

